Executive summary

- As a local SME, Ochre Health's direct impact on local industry is through being an established Tasmanian-based business supported by Tasmanian-based employees.
- With a new and long-term agreement with THS, there are opportunities to create new jobs for Tasmanians in addition to those positions specifically provided under the contract. These would be the nursing workforce and potentially in specialist occupational health practitioners providing services to the timber, fishing, farming and tourism industries.
- While currently engaging with a range of local Tasmanian suppliers, Ochre Health regularly reviews all our suppliers and adopts practical procurement strategies with a focus on developing local Tasmanian suppliers.
- Ochre Health will contribute to the longer-term viability of the local communities by providing essential services and bringing people from elsewhere to live and work in these communities.
